Becoming an Event Sponsor

Birdwatchers and researchers recognize Barry County as Michigan's top spot for observing the Cerulean Warbler. Each spring, these songbirds migrate to the vast hardwood forests of the Yankee Springs and Barry State Game Areas. The fans of the Cerulean Warbler are never far behind!

Partnership As a non-profit organization, Michigan Audubon relies on support from partner businesses and organizations to provide essential funding for programs and initiatives. Our sponsors' support allows our staff to deliver programs and expertise necessary to make a difference. By sponsoring Cerulean Warbler Weekend, your business becomes an active voice in conservation. We hope you will join us!

Benefits Being a sponsor of Cerulean Warbler Weekend provides several benefits. These include name and logo placement in publications, newsletters, and websites. Your name may be mentioned during public programs and events. Sponsors are allowed to use the Michigan Audubon logo (within guidelines). Please contact the Lansing Office for details.

Discover the beauty of Barry County, MI

Join Michigan Audubon for a weekend of fun in Barry County – home to over 300 lakes and 20,000 acres of public land.

In addition to the Yankee Springs and Barry State Game Areas, two Michigan Audubon properties, the Otis Farm and Ronald H. Warner bird sanctuaries, are open to the public. The forests of Barry County are critical to the survival of the Cerulean Warbler.

We look forward to seeing you during Cerulean Warbler Weekend!
